officer from Fort Sheridan who was showa friend in the navy, Lieutemant Bevier. He was a member of an exploring expedition which went into the arctic regions several years ago. Members of the party who were more sportive than scientific in their inclinations spent a good deal of time hunting polar bears. Lieutenant Bevier used to go out with them occasionally, but an experience he had one day ook away all desire for that kind of sport, "The hunters came upon a bear lying on the ice with two cubs beside her. She was a magnificent specimen, nearly as large, I should judge from his description, as this one in the pit. The cubs were handsome little fellows, and the men were very anxious to capture them. The sallors had a quantity of seahorse flesh in the boat with them, a thing the bears esteem highly. When they had rowed close enough to be able to do so, they flung a big piece of this meat to the cake of ice on which the bears were lying. The old bear looked up as if rather surprised at this unusual generosity and then tore the flesh into three pieces. The two larger ones she gave to her cubs, just as any human moth er would do, keeping only a small piec for herself. The sallors took deliberat nim at her and fired. The idea was to kil her and then carry away the cubs. Owing to the fact that they were bad marksmen

A Queer Medal of Napoleon III.

Napoleon the Great was a sedulous coiner of medals of victory, as all numismatic collectors are aware. His nephew imitated him in this practice, although his opporhis uncle. A collector of Rappoltsweller informs The Tageblatt that he is the pos sessor of a very rare medal for which Napoleon III ordered a die to be made and of which the specimens would now be extremely plentiful but for the battle of Sedan. On one side of the medal is the profile of Louis Napoleon, whose head is crowned with the laurel of victory and the inscription, "Napoleon III, Imperator." On the other stand the sanguine words, "Finis Germania, 1870." The medal is of some white metal, possibly silver, and is somewhat larger than an English half crown. The Tageblatt doubts whether the despondent Napoleon himself gave the order for such a medal to be coined and is rather inclined to think that it is only the speculation of a certain business firm which reckoned confidently upon French conquest of Germany and resolved to get an early profit out of it.-Westminster Ga-

Pipe Smoking as an Art.

Americans, as a rule, do not take t pipes as much as Englishmen, for the reason that very few of them know how to smoke. They carry their impulsive, energetic natures into their pipe smoking and puff away as if their existence depended have seen an American and an Englishman sit down for a quiet smoke and chat, and the American would fill his pipe twice to the Englishman's once. A pipe, to be enjoyed, should be smoked slowly, but the art in smoking so is to keep the pipe lighted. This is a knack which seems to only be well understood on the other side of the pond. The average American pipe smoker uses match after match with every pipeful. People come in to select tobacco, that will come up to this requirement if smoked as pipe smokers usually do. It is not the tobacco, but the heat from the fire in the bowl, that burns the tongue.-Ex-

Is It a Necessity?

With each year the practical necessity of college education for women becomes more apparent, especially for the woman schoolteacher. She who was a graduate always commanded a higher salary than the teacher who had not had such advantions refuse to accept nongraduates as teachers at all. This advance in the educational standard has but one drawback.

Like everything else, a good education costs more than a poor one. Hundreds of eager girls obliged to earn their own live-

IRON MOUNTAIN, MICH., Feb. 9, 1891. HAND MEDICINE COMPANY, GENTLEMEN:-

Gentlemen:—
Some time ago I received from you a sample of some "Colic Medicine," I think, for babies and the literature on the subject. This was given for an infant troubled with intestinal colic, and, at my next visit, the mother told me that the baby had been quiet. The case was lost sight of until the other day, when another case, similar in all respects, came under my observation. I wanted to use your medicine but could not find the literature, To-day I found the emoty box in which your sample was sent and now want you to favor me with another sample of your "Colic Mixture" and other remedies which you prepare, From my experience in the instance noted I think latil keep it on hand in the future.

ARE THE STANDARD PLOWS OF AMERICA

The fact that six years ago it was comparatively unknown in this territory, at d that its annual sales with us now mount into the many hundreds, prove that in the field it has shown its superiority. As is well-known the patterns are the latest of Mr. T. M. Bissell, the original inventor of the Chilled Plow. We believe there is no implement which the farmer changes more unwillingly than his favorite plow, but in the interest of supplying the best, we continue our offer, namely: Take a Bissell, put it in the field with any other chilled plow, and if our claims are not found true, which are that it is desirable in lightness of draft, case of handling and quality of work done, combined with improved mechanical construction, return it to us and purchase money will be refunded.

-----CLEAN AND WHOLE.---Potato digging, at best, is tedious work; and when done either with the hoe or the plow the crop is unprofitable.

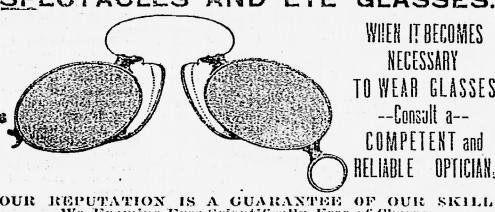

The 'Shaker' has a broad and perfectly flat blade which enters the hill under the potators, and allows them to slide up on the blade and fall on the rods or fingers. The Rods and Fingers are hinged to the front end, and are free to play up and down. The Flange Wheel in the rear lifts and drops these fingers: this motion causes a continuous shaking of the potatoes, knocking of the dirt, which drops through between the rods, leaving the potatoes clean and free to roll off on top of the ground. The Weed Fender separates the weeds and vines and prepares the way for the shovel. The Digger has Metal Handies, well braced; all steel.
